Manage risk and track financials across multiple contracts for raw materials.

"Scalable Commodity enables us to do better forecasting because our data is accurate and accessible anywhere, anytime. It's helped us streamline repeatable processes and procedures, making us a more disciplined organization, and because it's one complete solution which integrates with AX (now Dynamics 365 Finance and Operations), it's incredibly easy to use. In short, we couldn't live without it."

~Ridley, leading provider of high performance animal nutrition solutions

A powerful tool to execute contracts, manage risk and fully track financials, seamlessly integrated into Microsoft Dynamics 365 Finance and Operations.
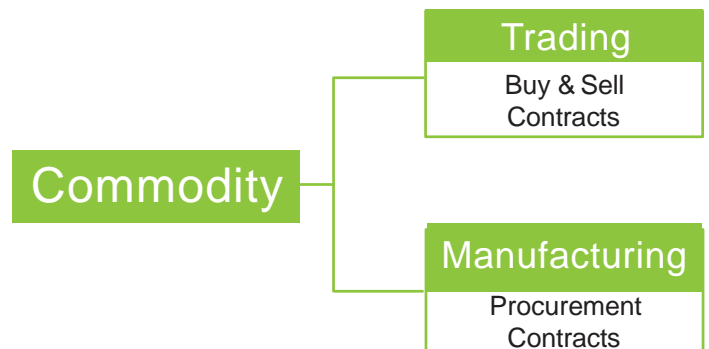

Traders and manufacturers dealing in raw materials and commodities juggle multiple supplier and customer contracts. They need real time contract visibility reflecting accurate pricing and costs. Every cog in the machine should be accountable and visible across the organization, ensuring strict financial control while allowing flexibility to respond quickly to market changes.

Scalable Commodity gives access to all contract and financial information in one place, visible to everyone in the organization. Real-time updating of all actions improves data sharing between departments and streamlines internal communications.

Users can interrogate the system at any stage as a contract progresses through its lifecycle, obtaining a summary view or drilling down on transactions for details.

Scalable Commodity gives immediate, accurate answers to commonly asked questions:

- What contracts are due to be executed?
- What commodity is available and where is it?
- What costs have been accrued for a contract?
- Have all invoices been produced and recorded?
- What is my P&L?
